

Management Systems Certification – Integrated Triple Standard

Integration of management systems reduces duplication and improves efficiency.

We offer an integrated service to companies seeking approval to two or more standards.

- Quality management systems to ISO 9001
- Environmental management systems to ISO 14001
- Health & Safety management systems to OHSAS 18001*

Reasons to integrate your management systems:

- ✓ More efficient and cost effective than operating separate systems
- ✓ Reduces disruption to your business and the amount of time required for assessments
- ✓ Increases efficiency by reducing the duplication of policies, procedures and auditing
- ✓ All areas of the business develop together, enabling the company to work towards common objectives

The benefits of choosing BASEC

- Specialists in management systems for the needs of the cable sector
- Offer guidance in identifying gaps in your current systems
- Provide training and help in understanding the requirements of each system, working towards common objectives

Management Systems Certification – Discrete Standards

BASEC is a UKAS accredited certification body for management systems, focussing in particular on the specific requirements of the cable sector.

Where required we can issue stand-alone management systems certification for:

- Quality management systems to ISO 9001

Assessing an organisation's ability to produce and supply goods and services consistently to specification, increasing consistency and quality and reducing errors and waste.

- Environmental management systems to ISO 14001

Reviewing a company's ability to manage its environmental responsibilities to enhance its environmental performance.

- Health & Safety management systems to OHSAS 18001

Evaluating an organisation's capability to control and reduce the risks associated with health and safety in the workplace.

- BASEC PCR (Product Certification Requirements)

Required management system for manufacturers with a BASEC product marking licence. It includes specific requirements for cable manufacturers over and above those in ISO 9001 and demonstrates best practice in the industry.

The benefits of choosing BASEC

- Specialists in the cable sector. BASEC auditors all have cable manufacturing experience so bring real value to your audit and your business
- Tailor the requirements of ISO 14001 to local environmental and legislative requirements
- Look beyond the legislation and compliance of OHSAS 18001 to aim for good risk management and organisational continuity, addressing the needs of all stakeholders
- BASEC Product Approval clients benefit from cost savings when you move your management systems certification to BASEC.

* OHSAS 18001 is soon to be replaced with ISO 45001. Companies will have three years to transition.
